Congratulations to Joy and Fred Cooke (Bldg. I) who celebrated 60th Wedding Anniversary on December 9. ***

Happy New Year from all of us at MRHS!

MRHS is closed on Monday, January 17, Martin Luther King Day.

Program on Peace Education

All who are concerned about world peace are invited to a special evening at MRHS on Tuesday, January 11, 7:00 PM, with Betty Reardon, (Bldg. III), the founding director emeritus of the International Institute on Peace Education.

A long-time resident of Morningside Gardens, Betty will speak on "Learning through Decades of Peace Education." Her insights and experience will be of benefit to everyone seeking ways to strengthen the peace movement.

Special Art Program at MRHS

Three doctoral student/artists at Teachers College Columbia University are offering a public art workshop sponsored by the Myers Foundation. This free workshop will include photography, performance, and installation art-making. Nine older adults, age 60 and over, are invited to participate in a site-specific public art-making experience that will include an opportunity to show their works in the Macy Gallery at Teachers College.

This workshop will begin on Saturday, January 29, 2011, 11:00 AM and will run for six weeks. Participants' activities will link the public context regarding the Morningside Heights area to connect the inspirational artistic response to the site. The participants will develop a site-specific art work during the six weeks for presentation at the end of the program. The classes will be held at MRHS. Please call MRHS at 212-666-4000 to enroll.

Technology for You
MRHS "techNet"

Here's what's coming in January.

1. We are planning to hold our next "techNet" meeting on Thursday, January 13, at 7:00 PM. The topic will be on Social Networking -- Facebook, Twitter and YouTube. It will be presented by Jael Simonson-Tunick, a recent Sarah Lawrence graduate and a temporary resident of Morningside Gardens.

2. Want to "Excel?" - Now forming a small self-help group to learn about Microsoft's Excel Spread Sheet. In order to participate, you need a laptop computer (either Mac or PC), have Microsoft Office with Excel installed on your computer, and be willing to meet on a regular basis. You should also have a blank flash drive. If you are interested in joining this group, please send an email to Mike Davidson. We will try to find a convenient time for everyone to meet.

   If you have particular expertise in Excel, please let us know so we can invite you to a meeting to share this skill.

3. The Macintosh I-Mac and Brother Multifunction (print, scan, copy) machines are available for public use on Monday and Wednesday from 12:00 Noon to 2:00 PM. Call the MRHS office (212-666-4000) if you wish to reserve a time or to use the facility at periods other than these.

   If you would like individual instruction on how to use the I-Mac and/or the printer, or how to scan or copy a document, please get in touch with either Mike Davidson or the MRHS office.

For further information please send an email to: DrMichaelSDavidson@Gmail.com.

Saturday Afternoon Movies

Jan. 8 Fantasia (1940) 2 hrs.
Here is an old musical movie of a different kind. Disney blazed new trails using a variety of animation styles to present classical compositions by Bach, Mussorgsky, Stravinsky, and others.

Jan. 15 The Darjeeling Limited (2007) 1 hr., 31 min. An odd story of three American brothers on a long train ride through India, reconnecting with each other as they try to find their mother (played by Anjelica Huston), who took off after their father’s death.

Jan. 22 The Secret in Their Eyes (2010) 2 hrs., 9 min. Delving into an old case form the days of the dictatorship in Argentina, a retired police investigator makes some disturbing discoveries. In Spanish, with subtitles.

Jan. 29 Zeigfeld Follies (1946) 1 hr., 50 min. And now a musical about musicals. Vincente Minelli directed this revue imagined by Ziegfeld himself (William Powell), looking down from heaven. Performers include Judy Garland, Fred Astaire, Red Skelton, and Lena Horne.

Your donation to MRHS is tax deductible!

Movies start at 2:00 PM. Please arrive early. Contribution is $1.00.

History Reading Group

This long-standing group, which meets biweekly under the direction of Beatrice Gottlieb, a resident of the Gardens, is my favorite activity here at Morningside Gardens.

We read at a slow pace and discuss in depth books relating to the history of Western culture. The range of what we have read is broad, extending from Homer, Gibbon’s Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire to The Armada by Garrett Mattingly and The Memoirs of Gluckel of Hameln, the fascinating journal written by a Jewish woman who lived during the late 17th and early 18th centuries in present-day Germany.

American history has not been slighted in our readings, for we have studied A Midwife’s Tale by Laurel Thatcher Ulrich, based on the diary, kept by a midwife who lived and plied her trade in Maine following the American Revolution, and are now approaching the final chapters of The Hemingses of Monticello by Annette Gordon-Reed.

Beatrice Gottlieb’s background in history, especially European social history, enables her to add further dimensions to what we read and discuss. Our meetings are truly stimulating and mind-expanding.

Save The Date!

On Tuesday, February 15, in commemoration of Black History Month, MRHS and the New York Historical Society will be sponsoring a special program on onetime Gardens resident, Thurgood Marshall. The program will include a one-hour film to be followed by discussion. There will also be a drawing for the Society’s latest book, When Did the Statue of Liberty Turn Green?

The program will take place in (where else!) the Thurgood Marshall Room, from 7:00 to 8:30 PM.

Publication of the Newsletter is made possible by a grant from Columbia Community Services.
Have you seen these cards? Samples are available at the MRHS office.

In times of celebration or bereavement, remember MRHS. Cards may be ordered from MRHS.
